

Google Friend Connect is coming! The Myspace killer!

If naplesplus is accepted, all 560+ users on this site will be a part of Google Friend Connect.

Perhaps it's premature to announce, but Google Friend Connect may be coming here to

<http://free.naplesplus.us>

This should allow users to interact with each other in a whole new way, and link together with other friends from other social networking sites, helping transform naplesplus towards what I have always wanted for Collier County, Florida: A true social networking environment where random people can meet random people. [if you already know each other, you'd already be connected on some other social networking site]. This harkens me back to the old BBS days, and if it can work out that our little corner of the universe can ALSO connect with other local little corners of the universe, why, then we'll have at our disposal a way to hook together with people that has been MISSING FROM THE INTERNET for all of these years.

True Connectivity.
